BECOME AN AGILE TOP-PERFORMER BY PLAYING A LEARNING GAME

Altonova Ltd and Tribe Studios Ltd. to co-develop a completely new type of learning game for the future skills of working life.

Start-up –companies, forerunners in their field, Altonova Ltd and Tribe Studios Ltd have today announced that they will co-develop a completely new type of learning game. The game will provide a novel approach for learning systemic and agile ways of working including related leadership and interaction skills through story-based gameplay. These skills are needed in future working life. The game stems from musicians’ top-performance and well-being model developed by Altonova’s CEO Eija Mäkirintala in the first Finnish coaching related doctoral dissertation.

The learning game is based on the Dramagame platform which has been developed by Tribe Studios. The Dramagame platform enables the modeling of complex social situations from real life. The Dramagame technology is especially applicable to small virtual worlds, where story-like content is explored through simultaneous actions and conversations by multiple players. Dramagame is software as a service and thus teams can practice together independent of physical distance.

The result is a completely new story-based and engaging learning experience.

“Our co-operation brings together two different areas of know-how which opens up novel possibilities in coaching and training teams and individuals.” CEOs Elina Arponen, Tribe Studios Ltd and Eija Mäkirintala, Altonova Ltd.
